Do you ever find yourself in need of an event space; perhaps even one that serves craft beer? We've all got that occasional work meeting or family and friends get together where it would be nice to have a large, dedicated event space, rather than try to cram everyone into a house that can't really fit everyone.

Well, Stoup Brewing Company is ready to help. Available for reservations now is 'Upstairs At Stoup', their new event space with enough capacity for over 40 guests (60-70 if you only need standing room).

Here is the full press release from Stoup Brewing Company:
SEATTLE, July 21, 2017 – Stoup Brewing is proud to announce the opening of UPSTAIRS AT STOUP, an extension of the tap room that can be reserved for groups. The room sits directly above the current tap room and looks westward with a deck over the existing beer garden. The space can accommodate up to 40 people seated, 60-70 standing. Guests will be able to select 4 beers from our tap list and outside catering is welcome. Lara Zahaba, one of Stoup's Co-Owners noted, "We are thrilled to accommodate event requests." She went on to explain, "While we have always welcomed groups to carve out their own space among our regulars, it is really great to be able to offer a more intimate setting as well." Adding, "We really couldn't be happier with the beautiful design work of Sean Sifagaloa at KRFTWRK.

When not reserved, UPSTAIRS AT STOUP is open to the public Thursday – Sunday for those that are 21+ and without their 4-legged friends.

Private events can be booked in 4 hour increments on weeknights and throughout the weekend. Additionally, 2 hour blocks are available from 9am-4pm weekdays for businesses looking to host off-site meetings.

Specific hours and pricing can be found at www.stoupbrewing.com/upstairs-at-stoup. Inquiries can also be sent to events@stoupbrewing.com.
